

MENACHEM AV

The Molad: Thursday morning,
4:22 and 3 portions.

The moon may be sanctified until
Thursday night, the 15th, 10:44 p.m.¹

Rosh Chodesh is on Friday.

When Av enters, we reduce our joy and minimize any business involvement that leads to joy.

It is forbidden to purchase new clothes or shoes, or to commission a craftsman to make them. It is also forbidden to do laundry (an exception is made with regard to the clothes of young children). These rules apply even if one will not wear them until after Tishah B'Av. One may, however, give one's Shabbos clothes to a gentile launderer.

Also, one may not wear clothes for the first time after they were laundered, even if they were laundered before this time, except in honor of Shabbos.

The father of a child being circumcised, the mohel, and the sandek may, however, wear laundered clothes and their Shabbos garments.

It is forbidden to wash one's entire body for pleasure, even in cold water. For health purposes and purposes associated with a mitzvah, however, it is permitted.

It is forbidden to eat meat and drink wine, except on Shabbos or at a feast associated with a mitzvah.

During the nine days from Rosh Chodesh Av until Tishah B'Av, a special effort is made to make siyumim. The intent is not necessarily to create an opportunity to have meat at the festive meal served afterwards.² (In later years, The Rebbe suggested that the custom be continued through the 15th of Av.)

A person who washes with hot water and/or immerses himself in the mikvah every Friday may wash with hot water (without soap) and immerse himself on this Friday. This applies to Erev Shabbos

Chazon as well.

Av 2, Shabbos Parshas Matos-Masei.

We read the Haftorah beginning Shim'u d'var A-donai, concluding with the verses Im tashuv... u'vo yis'ballalu (Yirmeyahu 2:4-28, 4:1-2).

We recite the second chapter of Pirkei Avos following the Afternoon Service.

After the conclusion of Shabbos, we make Havdalab on wine, but we give the wine to a child who is mature enough to appreciate the importance of making a blessing but is not mature enough to appreciate the obligation to mourn over Jerusalem. If there is no such child available, the person reciting Havdalab should drink the wine.

Av 4, Monday.

We complete the annual cycle of Rambam's Mishneh Torah, as ordained by The Rebbe, three chapters per day, for the 38th time.

Av 9, Shabbos Parshas D'varim, Shabbos Chazon.

The Alter Rebbe would wear all of his usual Shabbos clothing on Shabbos Chazon.

The restrictions that apply to Torah study on Tishah B'Av should be applied on this Shabbos as well. It is proper to study the book of Iyov, the unfavorable prophecies in the book of Yirmeyahu, Midrash Eichah, and the like.

(The activities prohibited on Tishah B'Av that are private in nature are prohibited on this day as well.)

Tzidkas'cha is not recited in the Afternoon Service.

During the meal before the fast, one may eat meat and drink wine. However, one should not feast with company. It is permitted to eat until sunset. We recite the zimmun and the Grace After Meals.

Av 10, Sunday, the fast of Tishah B'Av.

The fast commemorating the destruction of the First and Second Temples (this year it is postponed a day). In the Evening Service, at the conclusion of Shabbos, after reciting Barchu, we remove our leather shoes [and put on sandals, sneakers, or other foot coverings made of materials other than leather]. The chazan recites the words Baruch hamavdil bein kodesh l'chol and removes his shoes before reciting Barchu.

In the synagogue, we remove the curtain from the ark. After the Evening Service, we recite a full Kaddish including the stanza Tiskabel. We recite the blessing Borei me'orei ha'eish; however, Havdalab is not said over a cup of wine.

We sit on low chairs or cushions on the ground and read Eichab. At the beginning of each chapter starting with the word Eichab, the reader should raise his voice slightly.

After Eichab, we read selected Kinos, and then recite V'Atab kadosh. We do not recite Vibi noam and V'yiten l'cha. We recite a full Kaddish without Tiskabel, then Aleinu, and the Mourner's Kaddish.

In the Evening and Morning Services, the mourners recite the Mishnayos from Taanis and Moed Katan.

A person in the midst of the seven days of shivah mourning may go to the synagogue in the evening and the morning until the conclusion of the Kinos.

We do not follow the custom of sleeping on the ground.

Upon rising from sleep, a person should wash only his fingers, and not his entire hand. If he has filth around his eyes, and he would usually wash it off, he may do so on this day as well.

We do not recite the blessing She'asah li kol tzorki until the following day. We do not wear a tallis or t'fillin during the Morning Service.

The chazan recites the passage Aneinu as a separate blessing in the repetition of the Sh'moneh Esreh. The laws governing what to do if he forgets are explained in the section concerning the Fast of Gedaliah (Tishrei 3). In the repetition of the Sh'moneh Esreh, the chazan does not recite the passage Elokeinu veilokei avoseinu, which recalls the Priestly Blessing. After the conclusion of the Sh'moneh Esreh, the chazan recites a half-Kaddish. We do not recite Tachanun.

For the Torah reading, three men are given aliyos in the portion beginning Ki so'lid banim (D'varim 4:25-4:40). A half-Kaddish is recited. The third person also reads the Haftorah (Yirmeyahu 8:13-9:23). After the Haftorah, we recite Y'hall'lu and return the Torah scroll to the ark. We then recite Kinos.

Kinos is followed by Ashrei, U'va l'Tziyon goel

(skipping the verse Va'ani zos brisi), a full Kaddish without the stanza Tiskabel, Aleinu, and the Mourner's Kaddish. We do not recite the Song of the Day or Ein keilokeinu until the Afternoon Service.

It is customary for each person to read the book of Eichab individually.³

If there is a baby to be circumcised on Tishah B'Av, the circumcision is held after Kinos. The father, the mother, the mohel, and the sandek may wear their Shabbos garments until after the circumcision. They may not, however, wear leather shoes. A blessing is recited over the cup of wine, and it is given to children to drink.

We do not greet our colleagues on Tishah B'Av. It is forbidden to perform any work that involves concentration, or to prepare food for the evening, until after midday. Similarly, we do not sit on chairs until after midday and the completion of Kinos.

For the Afternoon Service, we put on the tallis and the t'fillin and recite the appropriate blessings. We then recite the Sh'ma, the Song of the Day, Ein keilokeinu, and all the Shiurim that are usually done in the Morning Service. Afterwards, we recite the passages describing the daily offering and the K'tores, Ashrei, and then a half-Kaddish.

We take out the Torah and read Vay'chal (Sh'mos 32:11-14, 34:1-10), as on other fast days. Similarly, Dirshu A-donai (Y'shayahu 55:6-56:8) is read as the Haftorah. Afterwards, we recite Y'hall'lu and bring the Torah scroll back to the ark, a half-Kaddish is recited, and then we recite the Sh'moneh Esreh.

We include the passage Nacheim in the blessing Boneh Y'rushalayim. (If a person forgets it at that time, he should include this passage in the blessing Sh'ma koleinu after the passage Aneinu; or in the blessing R'tzeb, before the phrase V'sechezenah eineinu; or in the blessing Modim, before the phrase V'al kulam. If he does not mention it in any of these blessings, he should not go back and repeat it.) Similarly, the passage Aneinu is added to the blessing Sh'ma koleinu.

When the chazan repeats the Sh'moneh Esreh, he recites Aneinu as a separate blessing after the blessing Goel Yisrael. He also includes the passage Nacheim in the blessing Boneh Y'rushalayim, and the passage Elokeinu veilokei avoseinu, which recalls the Priestly Blessing, after the Modim blessing. He concludes with a full Kaddish including the stanza Tiskabel. We then recite Aleinu and then the Mourner's Kaddish.

Every person who mourns for Jerusalem will merit to see the celebrations when she is rebuilt.

After the Afternoon Service, we put on the t'fillin whose passages are structured according to the order required by Rabbeinu Tam, etc.

On this day of Jerusalem's destruction, it is desirable to donate to the charitable organizations, such as Colel Chabad, which are active in maintaining its Jewish character.

After the Evening Service, we wash our hands alternately three times as is done for negel vasser in the morning, but a blessing is not recited. We wash our faces, rinse our mouths, and put on our shoes.

We make Havdalah over a cup of wine (without the candle and spices), recite the blessings Borei pri bagafen and Hamavdil, and drink the wine.

We then sanctify the moon.

We do not eat meat or drink wine until the morning. However, the other restrictions of the Nine Days are now permitted.

Av 14, Thursday.

We do not recite Tachanun in the Afternoon Service.

Av 15, Friday, Tu B'Av.

Tachanun is not recited, and it is forbidden to fast. This applies even to a bride and groom on their wedding day.

Av 16, Shabbos Parshas Vaes'chanan, Shabbos Nachamu.

While the Ten Commandments are read, it is customary for the entire congregation to stand and face the Torah.

We recite the third chapter of Pirkei Avos following the Afternoon Service.

Av 20, Wednesday.

This day marks the yahrzeit of the saintly sage and kabbalist Rabbi Levi Yitzchak, The Rebbe's father. He was imprisoned and then exiled because of his efforts in strengthening and spreading Yiddishkeit. He passed away while in exile in 5704 (1944), and is interred in Alma Ata, Kazakhstan.

Av 23, Shabbos Parshas Eikev, Shabbos M'varchim.

We bless the month of Elul, announcing Rosh Chodesh, which falls on the coming Shabbos and Sunday.

We do not recite the passage Av harachamim.

We recite the fourth chapter of Pirkei Avos following the Afternoon Service.
